With the kind permission of Le Passeur Éditeur, this PDF, with some corrections and additions by Dr Manuel Cornejo, is a translation of:

In order to assist the reader in the mass of correspondence, writings, and interviews by Maurice Ravel, we offer here some chronology which may be useful. This chronology attempts not only to complete, but correct, the existent knowledge, notably relying on the documents published herein¹.
